

Hello!

Thanks for dating your Tupperware demonstration with me! I promise we'll have fun and work together to get you the most possible free! Here are some tips for a successful party:

⇒ Consider Joining Tupperware! This party can get you started! Begin your own business!

⇒ Send everyone an evite! Go to evite.com and be creative. It helps to overinvite!! Only about half of the people will be able to make our date. Please include me on the evite! My email is:

⇒ If you would like paper invites sent out, please send me home addresses ASAP! You can mail or e-mail them to me:

⇒ Call your friends and let them know how excited you are about what's new in Tupperware. That way they will know you want them to come and bring a guest!

⇒ Ask anyone who cannot attend to place an outside order and/or date a demonstration of their own. Both will help you earn more! If you need more supplies or information, call me. They can check out my website but have them give the order to you!

⇒ Keep your refreshments simple. You want people to see how easy it is to have one of their own.

⇒ Sit back and enjoy. I want you to have fun at your party too! We'll close the party at your party so you can pick your freebies right away!

I'm always a phone call away!
Sincerely,
